DR. RUDOLPH NUNNEMACHER

The Consummate Teacher

Room 203 in Clark University's Biology Building is the office of Dr. Rudolph Nunnemacher, Professor of Biology. It would appear to some to be a confusion of books, notes, papers, and laboratory equipment.

After a friendly greeting, the reporter was brought around a bookcase into a small sectioned off area that served as a laboratory.

"What's this?" Professor Nunnemacher asked, motioning to two nearly three foot ivory colored tusks pointing up from an overturned skull. He stood there confident and straight, examining various parts of the skull again, waiting patiently for an answer.

"Hmm. I'd say this is a walrus skull," answered the somewhat bewildered interviewer.

"Right," said Nunnemacher, in an approving tone. He then reached down and lifted the lower jaw from the upper part of the skull. "What do you think of this?" he asked, handing it over.

"It certainly is heavy," was the only logical reply.

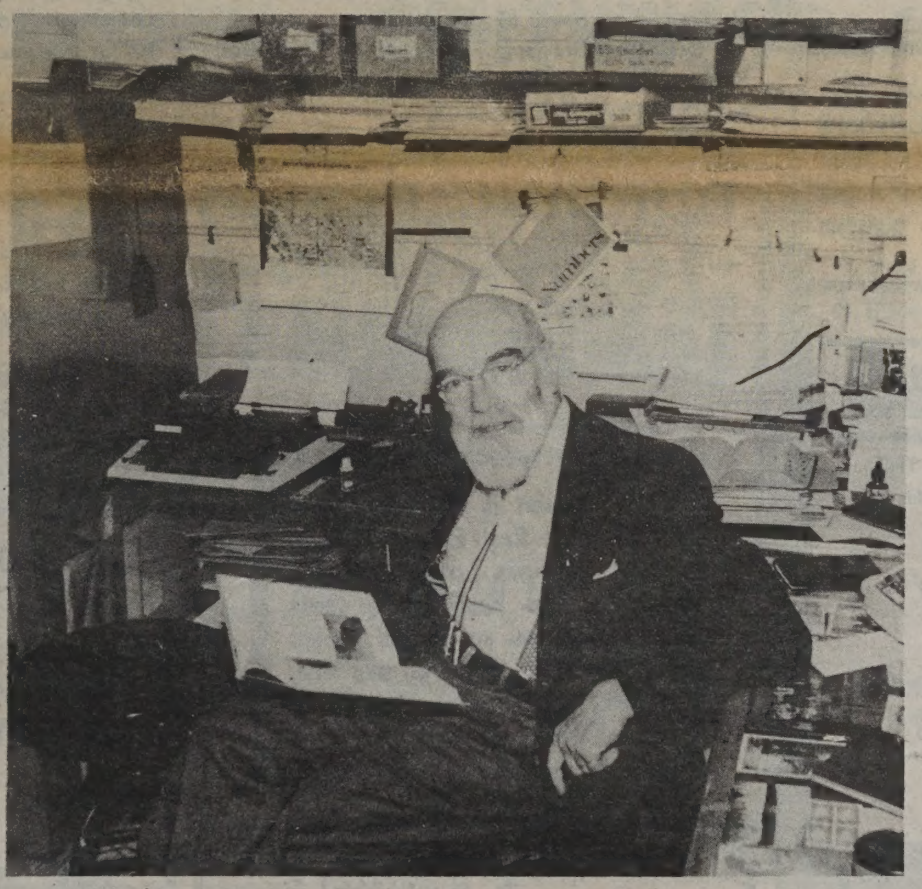
"Why is that?" he asked.

Just then the phone rang and, as Nunnemacher politely excused himself to answer it, the mind, as if gently jolted out of the complacency of polite, introductory small talk, began to search for an answer to the question. There was no intimidation to answer correctly; there was no humiliation in answering incorrectly. It's simply that the manner in which the questions were asked seemed to imply that the clue to the answer lay partly in the object itself. All at once, flashes of Jacques Cousteau's documentaries and Archimedes Law of Flotation crowded together.

As Nunnemacher returned to the small lab area where the skull was resting somewhat comfortably on a pillow of folded towels, he asked playfully, "Did I give you enough time to come up with the answer?" He had just the trace of a smile on his face - a little devilish, a little challenging, but not the least bit intimidating smile.

And so went the opening dialogue with Professor Rudolph Nunnemacher, Sutton resident and Clark University's most beloved and most respected Biology Professor.

Far from being the stereotypical, stodgy college professor who has no interests outside of the classroom, Nunnemacher is far and away a most interesting and entertaining man who combines, in his attitude and outlook, the best of the academic and non-academic worlds. That is, he brings to all aspects of his life, the intellectual curiosity and thoughtful consideration that his scholarly discipline demands.



The Professor is not a Sutton native but has lived in the town since 1947. The 1724 house that he and his wife call home once belonged to a Mrs. Putnam who, for many years, ran it as a "Tea Room." "Her reputation was that she charged much and gave little portions," he said. "I saw the house on a rainy night, which is the worst time to see anything, and as soon as I saw it, I knew it was the house I wanted." There Nunnemacher reared four children: Sally, Nick, Thea, and Gretel. Sally, Nick, and Thea are Sutton residents and Gretel lives and works in Boston.

Dr. Nunnemacher recalled tha[illegible] shortly after he moved to Sutton in 1947, he was asked to give a lecture to the Sutton Men's Club. "I asked them what they wanted me to talk about and they told me just to pick a subject. The subject I chose was evolution." He paused a moment and, obviously recalling the reaction, continued with a laugh, "Immediately I got the reputation for being different." In rural New England in the 1940's, it was hardly fashionable to speak of evolution. For a college professor, though, this subject was on the cutting edge of scholarship.

In spite of the fact that Dr. Nunnemacher held opinions significantly different from those of some of his Sutton neighbors, he was appointed to the Town Finance Committee. Shortly after his appointment, he was completely astounded to discover that the library budget depended on the number of dog tags sold. "I suggested that the library should have its own budget," he said. "Well, I lasted only one year because the Finance Committee is [illegible] reduce the budget not increase it," he explained with a smile. Nunnemacher went on to serve the community as Chairman of the School Committee.

Nunnemacher is one who lives his life fearlessly, pursuing his own course, yet he is aware that doing so sets him apart from the mainstream. As an example of this, he explained that a friend who was doing research in Bermuda asked him along to do a study on the compound eyes of crustacea. The outcome of a summer's work was disappointing. Undaunted by the results, Nunnemacher decided to continue his research at home. "I caught crayfish in Manchaug Pond then turned to lightning bugs." As he described the process of gathering fireflies, he began to laugh as if reliving the humorous circumstances. "I wore a hat with a mosquito net and collected them in a butterfly net. I would go into fields at night, and when I'd see a car coming, I'd duck down behind the wall until the car drove by so they wouldn't see this person dressed in this strange manner."

To commemorate some of these bizarre excursions, this talented man has drawn his own illustrations. The pen and ink drawings are included in his soon-to-be-released autobiography. These illustrations are remarkably like those of Al Banx, a popular Gazette cartoonist, whose drawing of the Professor on his high wheeled bicycle during the Sutton 200th anniversary parade can be found on the inside cover of Nunnemacher's manuscript. Banx had the Professor balanced high on his antique bicycle, his legs outstretched. "My reputation really increased in '57 when Al Banx drew this," he said with a laugh.

The antique bicycle, with the Professor perched high on its wheel, came to be one of the trademarks of this most respected teacher. Another was the pet boa constrictors which he kept in a tank outside his office. Students would

MILLBURY SELECTMEN'S MEETING DIGEST

By Edward J. Cooney

JANUARY 20, 1987

Following usual procedure, the Board signed the Warrant, approved the corrected minutes of a previous meeting, and held over to next week the minutes of January 13.

- Chairman Wynton Adams noted that the dates to remember were February 10 (Special Town Meeting), and April 4th (Annual Town Meeting).

- Under "Old Business", Administrator Earl Chase informed the Board that the new larger parking signs for the off-street parking lot were in place.

- Jeff Gardner, of the Dorothy Pond Restoration Advisory Committee, informed Chase that they would be meeting with the B.S.C. on January 22.

Adams questioned if this was to be a pre-project meeting. He indicated that his intention was to attend the meeting so as to express the Selectmen's concerns about the Milestone Chart.

- On a 4-0 vote, the Board voted to approve street light locations on Stowe Road based on the study completed by Mass. Electric and the Town's Safety Officer.

- At 7:30 p.m., a Hearing was held on the application of Patricia Church for a common victualer's license for the Central Diner located on Elm Street in the center of town.

Adams stated that the Board usually likes to meet people whom they are not familiar with and who are seeking licenses. He asked Mrs. Church to give some of her background.

Mrs. Church explained that she has had 14 years experience in the food service business as a caterer and a manager of a cafe. "I am smitten by diners. I love diners," she said.

In response to questions from the Board concerning the hours of operation and changes in the business, Mrs. Church responded that she has no plans to make any big changes in the beginning, but would offer additional hours on Sunday for breakfast and possibly more entrees and deserts than there are at present.

The Selectmen voted 4-0 to grant her the license.

- At 7:45, another hearing was held concerning a request for a distribution box on Millbury Ave to serve that general location. The Board granted approval to New England Telephone to allow the installation with the understanding that the box and the area be properly maintained.

At this time, Selectmen Donnelly and Lachance expressed their concerns surrounding problems with telephone service in general in the Town of Millbury.

The Representative from the Telephone Company stated that he would pass on the complaints and get back to the Board next week.

- At 8:00 p.m., Lynn Stover, of Herricks Lane, inquired of the Chair why she was not scheduled to speak at tonight's meeting. She noted that she had asked to be on the agenda a month ago.

Adams stated that it was an oversight. He indicated that if time allowed, she could have the opportunity to speak later.

Mrs. Stover requested that she be placed on the agenda for next week's meeting as she had made other commitments and could not stay.

Adams assured her that she would be placed on next week's agenda.

Mrs. Gasco, also of Herricks Lane, stated that the road had been plowed and taken care of beautifully during the recent snowstorms. She expressed concern as to how the road would be maintained when the Spring thaw comes. She also noted that sand was used to fill the ruts and that this was ineffective. Mrs. Gasco stated that the people living on Herricks Lane are requesting that good gravel or crushed stone be used to fill in ruts.

Adams said that the Highway Surveyor is the only one who has the authority to make a decision on the maintenance of the road. He noted that the developer (Ben Miles), has indicated that the road and the area that was dug up would be paved as soon as weather conditions warranted.

Mrs. Gasco also inquired as to the progress of the Board in reading the questions concerning the acceptance of Herricks Lane as a public way at a previous town meeting.

Adams indicated that research is being done. He noted that in the future, property owners on

HIGH SCHOOL DIALOGUE

By Roger Desrosiers

SCHOOL IMPROVEMENT COUNCIL

Earlier this school year, I wrote about the formation of a new organization which was part of the education act called Improving the Public Schools of the Commonwealth, Chapter 188. This organization is called the School Improvement Council. This was intended to expand participation in the educational planning of the schools. This Council is organized by each school within each school system. The Elementary School councils were organized last year and the High School councils are being organized this year. The members of each council will consist of the principal of each school, three teachers, three parents with children in school, one community representative, and two students, one male and one female, elected by the high school student body. The members of the High School S.I.C. are: Daniel Carmody, Roger Desrosiers, Pamela Graves, Dorene Griffin, Paula Bunevith, Linda Pierce, Jane Pojani, Leah Devine, Tim Cluett, Denise Young.

Each Council has the authority to allocate money to fund activities, programs, equipment, etc. that are not part of the current school operating costs. However the Council chooses to spend the money appropriated by the state, it must be approved by a majority of the School Committee. The school's improvement fund is based on the number of full-time students who were enrolled the previous year multiplied by $10.00. As a result, Millbury High School is allocated $6,740.

Since the major purpose of the S.I.C. is "to expand community understanding and involvement in the schools, the members of the Council wish to invite the community to propose suggestions on how to best use the monies presented by the State. To best understand what guidelines we have to go by, I will quote from the instructions that we have: "The proceeds of the fund shall be used...to establish innovative academic programs, expanded services to students, purchase of instructional equipment, alternative education, cultural education programs, community or parent involvement programs, business and education partnership programs, staff training, or for any other purposes consistent with the intent of this section."

Perhaps you have felt that the school has needed to do one thing or another. This is your opportunity to share your idea and perhaps even make it a reality. Please feel free to contact the school about your suggestion. You may call the Principal's office at 865-5841. The Council will be meeting soon to decide how to spend the allocated monies, therefore, we will need your response on or before February 6. Thank you for helping us.

THANKS TO THE V.F.W.

Reaction among the faculty of the Millbury School System was overwhelmingly positive as, once again, the Scholarship Dinner Dance/Outstanding Teacher Award Presentations on Saturday, January 24 were a huge success. For three years now, both the Charles F. Minney Post and the Ladies Auxiliary have honored teachers from the Millbury School System and the Blackstone Valley Regional Vocational High School. It is indeed encouraging to have an important community organization display its respect and recognition to an often maligned profession in today's society. We are most grateful to the men and women of the post, in particular Mr. Ray Chasse, Chairman of the event, Mrs. Gloria Larson, President of the Ladies Auxiliary, and Mr. Rene Morin, Post Commander. Those honored from the Millbury system were Mrs. Joan Burke from Millbury High School, Mrs. Linda Snyder from the Shaw Middle School, and Ms. Diane Paluses from the Elmwood Street School.

It should also be noted that the V.F.W. in Millbury also generates four types of scholarships for Millbury students. In the past eleven years, the Post has granted $18,400. Our thanks for your support of education.

SKI CLUB

On Saturday, January 31, the Ski Club will sponsor a dance for the High School students from 7:00 p.m. to 11:00 p.m. Tickets are $3.00 and may be purchased at the door. Junior Tim Cluett will once again serve as the DJ. As usual, school policy will apply.

Profits from the dance will go toward a ski trip planned for Saturday, February 7, at Mt. Wachusett. Mr. Jay Hanratty is the Ski Club advisor.

Herricks Lane would be required to sign releases of property; a matter that should have been completed years ago. "If we have to deal with the residents you will be notified," said Adams.

- Richard Courtney appeared before the Board to discuss his interest in the Providence St. School property. Courtney stated his intention was to use the building for an antique store, selling and buying wholesale and retail. The Selectmen informed Courtney that the appraised sale price was $180,000. Courtney noted that he would look over the building and then evaluate his position concerning the asking price.

- Discussion by the Board then turned to the date of the Special Town Meeting and a possible conflict with a scheduled basketball game the same night at the high school.

Chase indicated that this particular game was a crucial one, and it was expected that it would be well attended. He said that other options were the Elmwood St. School or the Middle School. The Board expressed concern about the lack of space and furniture available at both locations. It was suggested that the game be rescheduled for two weeks from then or at some other later date.

- Adams then suggested that a representative of the Department of Environmental Management be requested to attend the Special Town Meeting to address the concerns of citizens.

- The Selectmen returned to "Old Business" items on the agenda.

- At this point, Hy Sclar of Manor Road, gave a list of the names of members of the Swim Study Committee to Chase. He also stated his concerns for safety with regard to the intersection of Riverlin and Grafton Streets. Sclar noted that there were a number of accidents and near accidents at that location.

Adams explained that the Board has already addressed the problem and is seeking installation of a flashing light at that location.

- In other business, the Board:

1. Voted to approve street openings at two locations on Manor Road by Commonwealth Gas for service connections and repair of service.

Gauthier noted that the work had already been completed.

2. Approved relocation of a pole by N.E. Telephone on Elm Street, to allow the opening of an exit for the new off-street parking lot.

3. Approved a license for a juke box and Sunday entertainment at the Blue Anchor Lounge.

4. Went on record as supporting efforts to correct problems at the intersection of Route 20 and Massasoit Road.

5. Under "Correspondence", discussion ensued concerning the request for a change of name on a junk yard license held by Rita Gendron, and issued in the name of Edward Gendron who is deceased.

It was noted in a letter from Mrs. Gendron, that the Town Clerk had renewed the license under the name of the deceased Edward Gendron, with the understanding that she seek a change to her name.

Lachance stated that it was his opinion that since the person was deceased the license was void and could not be renewed; it was decided that the matter should be checked.

- Discussion developed concerning a letter received from the Visiting Nurses about their request for reduction in their rental fee for the use of additional office space (and storage) on the third floor of the Asa Waters estate.

The letter indicated that the Visiting Nurses Association could not absorb the $500 rental fee and asked for consideration of amending the Board's request to $200 per month. This is up $100 per month from their present rental fee.

Adams stepped down at this point to avoid any possible conflict of interest, as he is a member of the Board of Directors for the Association.

The Board briefly discussed the matter and, on a suggestion from Roland Lachance, decided to request that the Visiting Nurses seek

Take Credit For The Value In Your Home

Your home has undoubtedly increased in value over the years. That value represents equity that you can turn into cash to get the things you need right now.

Use this simple formula to see how much credit the equity in your home might be worth. Take the estimated value of your home and multiply by 75%. Subtract the balance due on your mortgage from that figure and you have your potential credit line from Fidelity Co-operative Bank.

Example: Value of home $100,000 × 75% minus balance on mortgage $40,000 equals $35,000 as your potential line of credit.

Call Fidelity Co-operative Bank and ask about our Fidelity Home Equity Credit Line. You deserve a lot of credit for the value in your home.

ON THE SHELF

By

Rosemary Waltos

In 1904, Oliver Wendell Holmes, Jr. said, "taxes are what we pay for a civilized society." After reading the newspaper each day, some people would debate if our society can be considered civilized. Regardless of our opinions, we all have to face taxes as a fact of life. This year, more than ever, the Millbury Public Library is prepared to help you through the income tax season with state and federal tax forms, tax guides, and an income tax assistant to help you fill out your tax forms. We are even providing investment planning advice through our Sound Investment series.

The Library has on hand thousands of federal tax forms. In addition to the most sought after forms, we also have a set of reproducible tax forms that includes all your hard to find forms. If you need copies of any of these reproducible tax forms, you can make copies of them on the Library's copy machine. Copies are ten cents each. If you're looking for the infamous W-4 form, we have plenty of them too. We expect to be getting state forms in the next few weeks.

In addition to tax forms, the Library also has numerous income tax preparation books such as Sylvia Porter's and J.K. Lasser's latest editions. We also have several copies of the IRS's tax preparation guides.

We are pleased to be able to offer income preparation assistance this year. Starting in February, every Friday between 3:00 and 6:00, a tax aide from the American Association of Retired Persons will be in the Library to help people fill out their income tax forms. This service is available to all Millbury residents. If you would like to take advantage of this service, call the Library at 865-1181 for an appointment. When you come for your appointment, remember to bring your tax information.

Income tax season is usually the time that many people start to think about investments. This year many people will be re-evaluating their investment choices in light of the new tax reform laws that will be effective in 1987. To help you get the facts, the Millbury Public Library and Shawmut Worcester County Bank are presenting Sound Investments. This is an investment series on various aspects of personal investment. The next program in this three part series will be on Tax Exempt Securities. Investment administrator at the Bank, Michael Zalansky, will be presenting a look at municipal tax exempt securities. He will highlight what's available and how to invest in order to receive tax free income. In addition, issues concerning the new tax laws in this area of investment will also be discussed. Check the paper for information about upcoming Sound Investment Programs.

SCHOOL COMMITTEE MINUTES

By Edward J. Cooney

JANUARY 21, 1987

Chairman Hanratty called for a motion to approve the regular minutes and the executive session minutes of the January 7th meeting. Both were unanimously approved.

Hanratty then turned the meeting over to Dr. Sylvia who introduced Kathy Archambeault, Science Department Head. Mrs. Archambeault passed out a typed report which she referred to in her presentation to the School Committee.

There are five Science Department teachers, including Mrs. Archambeault, who teach a minimum of three science courses. There are five additional teachers teaching less than three science courses within the Science Department curriculum. Four (of the five) teachers are teaching one science course and one is teaching two science courses. These five teachers are also teaching under other disciplines.

There are 17 course offerings in Science from Grade 8 through Grade 12. Advanced Science and General Chemistry were offered but no students signed up for the two courses.

The Science Department is recommending changes in the curriculum. An Honors Chemistry course initiated in September 1986, is being developed by Mrs. Graves. An Honors Biology course is proposed for September 1987, involving six periods per week with lab exercises and outside assignments.

The following proposal was then presented:

1. Drop a lab period for college biology next year - presently there are two lab periods

2. Drop a lab period in physiology in 1987-88

3. In Eighth grade, physical science curriculum, encompass both earth and physical science in 1987-88 or 1988-89

4. Addition of a Botany/Social Issues course in Science for Grade 11 in 1988-89.

Mrs. Archambeault's report indicated the following recommendations for improvement:

1. An additional full-time science teacher
2. Additional choices in course offerings
3. Additional "hands on" lab experiences that require interpretive results and reasoning capabilities.
4. Uniformity in teaching sections of the same course
5. Additional requirements in reading and writing in the science courses.

Following this report a brief question and discussion period was held. Chairman Hanratty then thanked the Science Department for their report.

Next, a discussion followed concerning a request from the Chemical People (a drug and alcohol education and awareness group of community citizens) to conduct a student survey of substance abuse. Mr. McArdle, a member, and Art Clark, Treasurer of the Group, were present to represent their organization.

Clark stated that the request was being made to survey students in Grades 4-7 and 8-12. The survey is tailored to the ages of the students.

AFter two years of discussions, meetings, and talk, the Group has put a survey together. He noted that the Chemical People's charter states that one of the major goals is to educate and promote an awareness of drugs and alcohol. It is the Group's intention to tabulate the results and to publish them so as to generate an awareness and interest; as to the extent of what is now presently going on.

Dr. Sylvia stated that he is recommending to the Committee that the survey be done. he noted that the teachers would need to explain and impress on the students the seriousness of their responses to the survey.

Wilczynski commented that he was concerned that the students might not take the survey seriously.

The Superintendent indicated that it would be necessary to have an orientation to the survey so it would be done properly by the staff.

Wilczynski also stated that students should be reminded that this is something very important and should not be taken lightly.

It was the consensus of the School Committee that the survey should be done.

Sylvia noted that the Graphic Arts Department might be of assistance in preparing the survey.

- Under "Informational items" :

1. Dr. Sylvia presented a memo concerning the Assessment Progress Report. He informed the Committee that the next meeting of the Task Force Committee, headed by Paul Clancy, would meet next Wednesday evening (January 28) at 7:00 p.m. The meeting will include the School Committee and Building Principals.

2. Horace Mann interim reports from participating teachers were in each school committee members packet.

3. The faculty survey for Evaluation and Accreditation was also in the packet.

PARENTS NIGHT

On Thursday, February 5, the second parents night of the school year will be held at the High School. Teachers will be available from 7:00 to 9:30 p.m. Since report cards have recently been issued, parents are urged to attend this evening to discuss their child's progress with his or her respective teachers. We hope to see you there, in particular those parents whom we did not have a chance to see in November.

PLANNING AHEAD

SUBJECT SELECTION SHEETS will be distributed to the students in the early part of February. This means that students and parents will be making course decisions for next year. A program of studies will accompany the course selection sheet so that you may better understand the content and extent of each course offering. Any assistance that you may need will gladly be provided by the guidance department. Please call 865-5844.

WINTER CARNIVAL WEEK will be February 9 through February 13. The theme this year is Winter Fantasies.

LIP SYNC CONTEST: the November show was so successful that there will be a two night Lip Sync contest held during Winter Carnival Week - Wednesday, February 11, and Thursday, February 12.

4. A comparative study of per pupil cost by contiguous town, with the Assessment results for each Town, was presented by Sylvia. It was noted that in the report, several towns contiguous to Millbury and "of like kind" averaged lower per pupil cost, yet higher assessment scores than Millbury.

Wilczynski expressed concern with the figures and questioned how the state computed costs in their statewide reports. The cost report had been requested by Wilczynski at a previous meeting.

It was suggested that Grafton be contacted to see how they arrive at per pupil cost expenditures.

- The Committee then accepted the resignation of Mr. Nicoletti as the Girl's Track Coach.

- Ray Gemme was appointed head of the Guidance Department on a vote of 4-0-1 with Mrs. Cooney abstaining.

- The Committee appointed Betty Weekly as a Special needs Aide.

- Addenda items were then discussed. The initial topic was a request from the Selectmen to reschedule the High School basketball game on February 10th to avoid any conflict with the Special Town Meeting scheduled the same night in the auditorium adjacent to the Gym.

Alan Tuttle stated that both the Elmwood Street and Middle Schools were available. The Selectmen had expressed concern that the furniture at these schools may not be appropriate for adults.

Mr. Stickney, Business Manager, stated that chairs would not pose a problem.

Mrs. Cooney noted that this situation was the Selectmen's problem. She stated that there was a lack of communication on their (the Selectmen's) part and that the basketball game should "go right on as scheduled."

Tuttle said, "Offer them one of the other schools."

Pease concurred and noted that parking at the High School that night would be at a premium.

Hanratty said that it was too late to reschedule the game at this time.

Stickney indicated that the Selectmen, through the Town Administrator, had been made aware five or six weeks ago of the February 10th basketball game.

- Mrs. Cooney then told the Committee that the Youth Activities Task Force Committee had surveyed the High School students and the results showed an interest in using the High School Gym on Saturdays and Sundays for basketball, volleyball, and other activities.

Sylvia stated that he had no problem with the facilities being used as they are public facilities. He did note that there would have to be adequate supervision to prevent any possibility of vandalism.

Stickney stated that a custodian would be required while the gym was being used. It was suggested that the Youth Activities Committee Chairman contact Stickney for information.

- Prior to discussion of the proposed School Budget for 1997-88, Alan Tuttle inquired if members, and Dr. Sylvia, had received a copy of the State Ethics Committee's Regulations. Sylvia noted that he had received one. Tuttle went on to state that before delving into a review of the proposed budget, each member should read and study the Ethics Regulations and then make up their own mind as to how they should proceed.

Hanratty stated that he had received a copy from the Selectmen and that his brother was a staff member.

The Committee put off any lengthy or serious discussion or review of the budget until the next meeting.

Some discussion did ensue concerning the proposed budget, which shows a 12% increase over last year's budget.

- Members expressed concern over the increase at a time when enrollment has dropped and the teaching staff has increased. Since Proposition 2 1/2 layoffs, the staff has increased close to that before proposition 2 1/2.

Sylvia noted that much of the budget was related to professional salaries and could not be changed without cutting staff.

Tuttle expressed his concern about getting the budget through the town meeting.

Sylvia noted that some small cuts could be made in other accounts.

Wilczynski stated that if it comes to a crunch, an override could be sought at the Town Meeting.

A discussion on alternatives turned to a proposal by Hanratty to consider the possibility of changing K-7 grades to self-contained classrooms.

Mrs. Cooney noted that under a self-contained classroom, a student would only change classes and teachers for reading and math. It would provide more accountability for students and teachers.

Sylvia also expressed his concern about the possibility of cutting teachers. He then asked the Committee to give him direction.

The meeting adjourned at 9:45 p.m.

walk by and in hushed, solemn tones, would announce, "Nunny's snakes!"

Teaching is at the center of Professor Nunnemacher's life. Today, as he has since 1939 when he first came to Clark University, he spends long days on the campus at work in his office, writing, doing research, or teaching an occasional class.

His recently completed autobiography is, in part, an attempt to examine what factors influenced his life and developed his point of view. It is also the thoughtful recollections of a man who seeks to examine more thoroughly the people and events which have influenced him. What he most certainly has not included in his autobiography is the tremendous influence which he has had on so many others. He is the quintessential teacher, the quintessential college professor whose life has been and is devoted to instilling in his students a sense of self worth and self fulfillment through a realization of their own capacities.

The Town of Sutton and Clark University are indeed fortunate to have in their midst, an individual such as Dr. Rudolph Nunnemacher for whom life is a constant adventure where something new and interesting can be uncovered almost anywhere: in the skull of a walrus, at a town meeting, in Manchaug Pond, on the wings of a firefly, perched high on the seat of an antique bicycle.
